English Summary.
The preliminary skirmish which precedes the great political battle which is to be fought at the hustings in November, was taking place in the Registration Courts at the date of our latest exchanges from England. The great substantial struggle on both sides was at the admission of votes under the lodger franchise. The Revising Barristers have struck members of this class off the list for the simple cause that they did not appear to support their claims. A better organization will be necessary before the next season for registration comes round. The right of women to the franchise has also been raised in most of the important boroughs. At Lambeth and at Westminster the Revising Barristers contented themselves with saying, when the first woman's name was called, that they should take no notice of the claim. The presiding barrister at Westminster called attention to the fact that the subject of woman's rights to the franchise had already been passed in Parliament, when Mr. J. S. Mill moved to insert the word "person" throughout the Act, instead of "man," expressly in order to give women the franchise, and the amendment was rejected in order to maintain their exclusion, and that after that decision there could not possibly be any doubt as to the intention of the Legislature. At Manchester no less than 4,750 women have claimed to be placed upon the register for the borough as resident householders. Miss Becker, who lately obtained some celebrity for her earnest advocacy of women's rights attended the Registration Court at Manchester as the representative and champion of her sex. The chief ground which the ladies have for pressing their claims rests upon the alteration of the term "male persons" in the Reform Act of 1832, to the more general and comprehensive term of "man" in the Act of 1867. In a statute passed in the reign of Henry VI, which was passed to define and regulate the franchise, the word "people" was used, and it has been contended that from that time up to the passing of the Reform Act of 1867, when "male person" was substituted, women had a right to the franchise, but it has not been shown that they have ever attempted to exercise it. The right now claimed by women, under the term of "man," which they interpret to signify mankind, will be determined by the Superior Courts before the coming election takes place. In the meantime the Liberals are satisfied that they are gaining ground in the Registration Courts. Nothing denotes more strongly the progress of Liberal principles than the fact that there is a movement on foot to secure the return of Mr Gladstone for Oxford as a Liberal candidate. It is not likely that the Liberal leader will show any anxiety or even readiness to listen to the overtures of the University, who rejected him for Mr. Gathorne Hardy; nevertheless he may be selected for the University of Oxford without any personal exertion on his own part. The electors of Greenwich, a borough which fifteen years ago enjoyed the reputation of being one of the five most corrupt boroughs in the United Kingdom, are also desirous of securing the future Prime Minister as their member. The good old city of Edinburgh, which has always sought to be represented by talent rather than by a strong politician, has made overtures to Lord Stanley, but the Foreign Secretary remains faithful to his constituents at Lynn. Mr Murphy, of Anti-Papist notoriety, promises to offer himself to the electors of Manchester, in an address, which is more notable for violence and for defective grammar than for any particular political principles. Mr Stuart Mill, who would not consent to contribute in any way to the expense of his own election in Westminster, has offered to subscribe towards the return of Mr Bradlaugh for any constituency which may be desirous of securing his services. It is still rumored that Mr Disraeli meditates another flanking movement on the Irish Church; this report gains strength from the fact that some members of the Conservative Cabinet have expressed themselves desirous of seeing some modification in the Irish Church. The Right Hon. Colonel Wilson Patten has been appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland in succession of Earl Mayo, who will shortly be on his way to India, where, in contemplation of the advent of a Governor General who is entirely new to the country, the old project of removing the seat of Supreme Government from Fort William, more familiarly known to us as Calcutta, has been revived. Simla has always had many supporters amongst the exclusives of the Civil Service, but finding that the opinion of the whole European population is against them on account of the extreme distance of Simla from the seaboard, the civilians of Bengal are now agitating in favor of Darjeeling, which is much nearer to Calcutta, and being upon the hills would be fully as healthy as Simla. Of late years, and especially since the extension of the Central Railway, Bombay has put in claims to be the seat of Government. As she is rapidly becoming the commercial capital, it is probable that her claims will meet with some consideration, but inasmuch as the Northwest Provinces and the Punjab are somewhat disturbed, it is not likely that any immediate attempt will be made to remove the capital from the Presidency of Bengal. The strike of the cabmen came to a most inglorious termination. The Railway Companies having succeeded in obtaining as many "privileged" cabs as they required to ply for line in the stations, the owners of unprivileged, or street cabs, were either obliged to give in or to pay so large an amount in lieu of wages to the drivers of privileged cabs, that they were compelled to give in. The Solicitor Generalship, vacated by the promotion of Sir W. B. Brett, has been conferred upon Mr Baggalay, M. P. for Hereford, an eminent equity lawyer.

Editorial Correspondence, No.—21.

New York, Aug. 12, 1868.

The hot weather continues and the city is unusually empty for the season. The rush of people to the country by rail and water has been and is still very great. Cars and steamers leave here almost hourly, filled with human freight of half-roasted New Yorkers. Canada and the great lakes possess peculiar attractions at this season, and the Dominion is said to be filled with pleasure-seekers and sight-seers from American cities, north and south. Excursion tickets to the north, south, east or west may be bought in this city at extremely low prices. These tickets are 'good' until the 1st of November next, and entitle the holder to visit, remain over at any of the places on the route, and return to New York at his leisure—providing that leisure does not extend to a period beyond the date mentioned.

The California steamships go crowded each trip. The rates of passage are lower than ever before. The Pacific Mail Company carried passengers on their new steamer Alaska, the finest ship I have yet seen, and the largest merchant steamship, I believe, afloat, at $110 and $80 first class, and $60 and $39 second and third class. These rates are in greenbacks. The opposition company's rates were even lower, except in the steerage, the rate in which was fixed at $40. There is some talk of the opposition being shortly withdrawn from the California route, it being understood that a compromise can be effected after the next election for directors in the Mail Company, which comes off in December, when it is thought McLean, the present President, will be superseded by a more popular man.

Notwithstanding the warm weather, New York and vicinity rejoice in several first-class sensations—the most exciting of which is a tragedy known as the Spicer Poisoning. The victim—Mr John Spicer, a wealthy Fifth Avenue parvenu—lived unhappily with his wife. On Sunday morning, a week ago, he complained of feeling 'mean in the stomach,' and sent his colored servant for a Seidlitz powder. The powder was brought and handed to Mrs Spicer, who says she gave it to her husband, who mixed it himself and drank it. In a quarter of an hour afterwards Spicer died in great agony. An investigation showed that he had died from the effects of strychnine mixed with the Seidlitz powder. The Coroner's jury found that the poison was not self-administered, and that it was not contained in the powder when it left the druggist's. The inference therefore is left to be drawn by the public that either the servant or one of the family did the poisoning, and as the servant could have had no apparent motive, public opinion points to the woman and the dead man's brother (who derives a pecuniary interest from his death) as the guilty parties. No arrests have been made.

General Halpine (Miles O'Reilly) the author of many sweet poems, an efficient Union officer in the late war, and Registrar of the city of New York, died suddenly a few days ago from the combined effects of liquor and chloroform. He had been on a 'sneep' for several days and inhaled chloroform to put him to sleep, which it did, poor fellow, quite effectually. The General was a Dublin man and a member of the Episcopal Church. His income for the past year was $40,000; yet he died worth not a dollar.

A third incident, worthy of note, occurred over the river in Brooklyn. Do not be surprised at the announcement that rich gold diggings have been struck in the heart of the city of churches, and that a veritable California 'rocker' has been working for ten days past on the lead, with astonishing and profitable results. The story of the 'gold mine' is as follows: About five months ago, a piece of real estate, known as the 'Douglas property,' was purchased for the trifling sum of $15,600. The property in question had long been known as the 'Douglas property,' and is situated on the corner of Lafayette and Carlton avenues, Brooklyn. The person from whom it derives its name has been smouldering in the dust, and his soul is with the just, I trust.

When alive and working on this mundane sphere, he carried on the business of a manufacturing jeweller, and his manufactory was a three-story, low-roofed brick building on the east side of Lafayette avenue, one door from the corner of Carlton avenue. For ten years, gold wedding rings were manufactured there, and as the quality of the precious metal used for that purpose is always of the finest description, it might reasonably be expected that the late Mr Douglas had used every means to preserve what in the jeweller's trade are called 'savings.' He appears however not to have done so, but the filings were all allowed to accumulate from year to year between the walls and ceilings of the different rooms, in all the crevices of the cracked plaster walls, among the refuse thrown out from the furnace, and in fact in every place where dust will collect if allowed to do so. As a natural result of the negligence, Douglas died penniless, his daughter's husband (a Dr Boer) driven to despair by poverty, shortly afterwards murdered his wife and child and killed himself, at San Francisco, and Mrs Douglas, after the property had been sold to satisfy a mortgage, died of a broken heart, little imagining that beneath her very feet was treasure sufficient to discharge all the liabilities and render her independent besides. The new owner of the property determined to convert the manufactory into a dwelling house, and while superintending the laying of gas pipes under the flooring, he found lying amongst the dust which had accumulated there, a diamond which had since been valued at $60. This circumstance first drew his attention to the yellowish tinge of the dust under the flooring, and remembering the purpose for which the building had been used, he was induced to take a small quantity of the dust over to New York for the purpose of having it assayed or tested. The result more than exceeded his most sanguine expectations. He had struck something more valuable than 'filé,' he had actually struck gold, and went to work in a very practical manner to make the best possible use of his unexpected good fortune. He turned the gasfitters, bricklayers and others who were at work on the premises out of doors, and aided by a number of experts from New York, he went through the house from roof to basement. The building was dismantled, every floor taken up, every wall taken down, and every inch of space carefully scrutinized. The result of this minute and thorough overhauling was shortly apparent in the shape of a 'golden dust heap,' which was far more valuable than the dust heaps of 'Our Mutual Friend.' Up to date between ten and twelve thousand dollars have been realized from the smelting process, and it is said that when the whole lot is gone through, about fourteen thousand dollars will be the purchaser's share of the prize.

A few miles above the city, in Long Island Sound, there is a collection of sunken rocks, which, from the disturbing effect they exercise upon the waters, has earned for the locality the title of Hell Gate. Connected with this locality a romantic story is told, the truth of which is vouched for by old inhabitants. The story goes that on the night of the 26th November, 1780, the British Frigate Hussar, while endeavoring to escape through Hell Gate from the French Fleet, then entering the harbor at the Narrows, struck on what is known as Pot Rock. The officers and crew were saved, but their effects and the immense treasure on board, amounting to some 900,000 guineas, and about 80 prisoners (American) manacled, were carried down with the ship. In due course of time a Court-Martial was ordered by the British Admiralty, when all the officers testified to the circumstances attending the disaster, and asserted that the treasure contained in the 'run' of the ship, and secured by a brick casing, was lost with the ship. The vessel was allowed to remain as she sunk until 1794, in which year the British Government sent over two brigs; but after two years of fruitless labor, the attempt to raise the wreck was abandoned for the time.

A second attempt was made by the British Government to recover the treasure in 1819, but the American Government interposed, and commanded the laboring in the interest of the English Government to desist, regarding all British vessels then in our waters as prizes of war. At different periods afterwards attempts were made to raise the wreck and secure the moneys, by American wreckers, but all proved futile. At length, in 1848, the 'Frigate Hussar Co' formed, and every summer since the vessel is daily visited by the submarine operators, under the direction of Mr G W Taylor. The treasure remains however undiscovered; but two of the decks have been removed, 27 of the guns raised, also between 3000 and 4000 of the cannon balls, swords belonging to the officers, and a number of guineas supposed also to be their property, were found in the cabin. Bottles containing liquor have been from time to time taken up, and 40 of these were in Barnum's Museum when situated at the south-east corner of Broadway and Ann street, but were consumed in the great fire that caused the destruction of the building. Manacles with pieces of bone attached have likewise been obtained. The recovery of these articles, however, has not enticed to the pecuniary advantage of the company, but their recovery has demonstrated beyond question that the exact location of the wreck is known. Yesterday a number of divers remained on the wreck one hour. They brought up with them a bag of dirt, which upon being washed through a sieve, yielded some fragments of iron, a few small stones, recognised as what is known to seamen as English shore ballast, and the flint of an old-fashioned musket. The contractor is confident that his efforts to recover the treasure will be ultimately crowned with success, and Dr Weisse believes the treasure will be recovered through the agency of an 'Improved Submarine Explorer.'

Here is a sensational item of a different character, evidencing the immunity with which crime stalks at noonday the most crowded thoroughfares of this great city. Yesterday, about two o'clock in the afternoon, a young man of respectable appearance entered the office of the Star Fire Insurance Company, No 96 Broadway, and inquired of one of the clerks at the counter if Mr— (mentioning the name of a gentleman who occasionally calls there) was within. The secretary of the company stood at the extreme end of a long desk, taking down the numbers of a quantity of five-twenty bonds of different denominations, amounting in all to $40,000, which had just been received in the office as collateral in a loan made by the company, and accompanying which the customary memorandum of numbers had not been received. Just as the young man was informed to look for the party he inquired for in the back office, the secretary, having occasion to use a blot sheet, slightly turned his head from the light to reach one, and almost immediately resuming his former position found to his consternation that in this slight interval the bonds had been removed, snatched away, while the sight of 'the young man' making tracks up the steps into the street informed him by whom. To jump over the counter and follow the thief occupied the secretary but an instant; but on gaining Broadway his cry of 'Stop thief!' brought such a crowd around, all eager to learn what the matter, that he lost sight of the fugitive and was obliged to relinquish the pursuit of him.

The theatres are doing a thriving business in the Leg Opera—that is, opera where the smallest quantity of crinoline is tolerated, and the largest calves admired. 'Humpty Dumpty,' a pantomime taken off upon the follies of the day, is having a 'run' at the Olympic; 'Barbe Bleue,' a new opera by Offenbach, draws crowded houses at Niblo's, and a dramatic adaptation of Dion Boucicault's and Charles Reade's novel of 'Foul Play' occupies the stage at the New York Theatre. Of these 'Barbe-Bleue' is most attractive and gorgeously produced. The music is bewitching, and the costumes elegant. Perhaps since the departure of Marab, as you have no local theatricals to amuse yourselves with, the plot of his opera (which I enclose) may not be uninteresting to the readers of the Colonist.

Fire Inquest.

The Coroner held an inquest yesterday at the Police office into the origin of the late fire on Government street. The jury consisted of Messrs Piper, McNiff, Golden and Maucell, with Mr McNiff as foreman. After the jury had visited the premises where the fire occurred, the following evidence was taken:

Mr Piper—Heard the alarm of fire at a few minutes past two o'clock on the morning of the 3rd inst; ran into the street, but could only see the light reflected on the Theatre; went to the rear of his own premises and saw the French Hotel was on fire; the flames were coming out of the rear window, and at once spread over the northerly side of the kitchen roof; at that time there was no fire to be seen in the kitchen or roof of the kitchen; was sure there was no fire in the front part of the building; heard the police cry, 'break open the doors;' it might be ten minutes after the first alarm.

Patrick Conolly, Police officer—Was on duty about ten minutes past 2 o'clock on the morning of the fire with officer McMillan in Government street; on turning the corner into Fort street, Mr Murray's baker called their attention to a fire which he at first thought was in the room of Piper's saloon; ran back to Piper's and gave the alarm to those inside; found the fire then to be in the French Hotel, immediately aroused boarders, and in two or three minutes afterwards the whole building was in flames; himself and Mr McCrea had great difficulty in getting out through the dense smoke, some one got out through the front windows; he assisted to break open the adjoining premises and take the goods out of the stores of Messrs Hawlings and Buler & Co; this was all done before the alarm was rung.

Mr Joseph Copeland—Was in the Grotto at the time he heard the cry of fire; ran up street and saw it was in the rear of the French Hotel; burst open the premises and found the fire in the kitchen and adjoining room, there was also fire overhead, and a little fire on the wall of the room he was in, but he could not say if they were connected; was too much excited to observe very closely; in a few seconds, as it were, the fire spread everywhere throughout the building; made a great noise at first, but could find no one belonging to the hotel.

Frank Bettello—Was sleeping in the hotel on the night of the fire; heard the cry of fire below and got up; looked out and saw a large body of flame coming up the passage; had only time to break a window and escape from the front of the house; had his face burnt by the flames; the fire in the cooking ranges were all out before the house was closed for the night.

Mr Wilson corroborated Copeland's evidence.

Mr Bigne—Is brother of the owner of the hotel; it was his duty to close the house about 12 o'clock; did so on the night of the fire; did not see any fire in the cooking range when he locked the doors; does not sleep on the premises, but behind, in Douglas street; the cook always leaves about 8 o'clock in the evening; he did so on the night of the fire; no one has charge of the house at night but a young boy, whose duty it is to let the boarders in; knows his brother is insured, but does not know to what amount; could not fix the amount of his brother's loss; the cook this morning (Friday) left for Boston Bar by the Enterprise, and the young boy who attended to the house at night is sick; can assign no cause for the fire; is quite sure on looking up the house that the kitchen fires were safe.

In order that the cook and night servant may be examined, the inquiry was postponed until Monday week, at 1 o'clock.

The New Upper Fraser River Route to CARIBOO.—The new steamboat built by Mr James W Trahey for Mr Edgar Marvin, of this city, is named the Victoria. She will be run from Big Bar, a point 140 miles south of Queenstown, to the latter point. From the Junction, or Clinton, by road to Big Bar, is a distance of only 37 miles, while by the wagon road now in use from Clinton to Soda Creek it is 137 miles. It is claimed that goods can be sent through by this new route to Cariboo several days sooner than by the present means of land transportation, that the cost of carriage will be much less, and that a large section of farming ground along the river will be brought into market. It is believed by competent river navigators that steamboats will soon be run from Boston Bar to Queenstown, between which points only one or two portages by means of tramway will be necessary, and that the trip from Cariboo to Yale will then be easily made in three days. The dimensions of the Victoria are:—Length, 116 feet, and beam, 23 feet. She will be propelled by the engines and boilers from the Prince of Wales steamer on Lillooet Lake, the usual running time of which was eighteen miles an hour. The Victoria is built with due regard to strength and speed. A new era of activity and enterprise appears to be dawning on this Colony, and the exertions of a few men like Mr Marvin and his confederates will soon set every branch of industry in full motion.

The STEAMERS.—The Enterprise left yesterday morning for New Westminster. In consequence of having to go to Esquimalt the day previous, her freight was somewhat lighter than usual, but there is already a considerable amount accumulated at the wharf for the next trip. The G S Wright left yesterday for the Sound, and will return probably to-morrow. She will go to Nanaimo for a load of coal before sailing to Portland. The Active is undergoing some slight repairs in our harbor, and will not probably leave for Portland before Monday or Tuesday.

PUGET SOUND RAILWAY.—Mr Halladay is expected here in the Oriflamme next week. He is at present at Portland, superintending the preliminaries for the construction of a line of railway to San Francisco and another to Puget Sound—both lines to centre at Portland. The latter line, it is expected, will attract to a convenient port on Puget Sound (to be selected by Mr Halladay upon his arrival) the shipping which now reaches Portland by means of the dangerous Columbia bar and river at an expense for pilotage of $32 per foot up and down. The bold water of the Sound makes charges for pilotage merely nominal, and goods landed at the terminus of the railway will reach Portland in five hours after being put ashore. There is a great and glorious future in store for some point on Puget Sound not very remote from Victoria, from the contiguity of which Victoria cannot fail to profit.

DIOCESEAN CHURCH SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Committee of this Society was held on Thursday the 5th inst, the Lord Bishop of Columbia in the Chair, when the following resolutions were passed: That $250 be appropriated to the Rev James Reynard of the Cariboo Mission, and $250 to the Rev J B Good for the Lytton Mission. The friends of Church operations in this Colony will learn with pleasure that no time is being lost in assisting in carrying on the work in these two distant missions, and that as funds come in other pressing claims in various parts of the Diocese which have been postponed will, we trust, by the kind efforts of the friends of the Church be soon relieved by the committee.

THE ST. LEGER.—The great autumnal race at Doncaster does not appear to have excited the usual interest this year, owing to the fact that it was regarded generally as a safe thing for the flying Formosa. Only twelve horses started, and these with the exception of the winning mare were below the average standard. Formosa was ridden by Challoner, who had the race all his own way, and won easily by two lengths. Paul Jones was second, and Mercury third. Mr Cookson bred the first and second. This victory gives the crack jockey Challoner four St Legers in eight years, having during that time ridden Callar Oa, Marquis, Achievement and Formosa.

THEATRICAL.—The Daniell troupe which was expected here some time since from Portland are not coming. We learn, however, from a resident of Victoria who returned by the Active on Thursday, that the company now in Portland, of which Mr and Mrs Bates are the leading spirits, have determined to visit us for a couple of weeks and may be expected by the next trip of the Active. The Bates company are highly spoken of by the Portland papers, and no doubt will be well patronised by our community.

NANAIMO.—Mr Ring addressed a large meeting of electors at Nanaimo on Friday evening last, and was exceedingly well received by the constituency who, after electing him once, on two subsequent occasions rejected him. Mr Ring, among other things, said he would advocate a gradual return to Free Trade, a remark which met with great satisfaction by the electors. His return is regarded as certain.

SHIP BOLIVIA.—The cargo of this vessel now being discharged at Janion, Rhodes & Co's wharf, is in a splendid condition. The packages and boxes are not even soiled, and the salt, of which there is a large quantity, is as dry as though it had not been to sea. The Bolivia and her Captain have done much towards redeeming the unenviable reputation of the Liverpool vessels.

THE RACES.—It is anticipated that the races on Beacon Hill, on Monday, 9th inst., the anniversary of the Prince of Wales' birthday, will be a success, both as regards the stakes and horses. The entries take place to-day, at Mr Norris' office, between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m.

LARGE SUMS.—Sir E Landseer's celebrated picture painter, at a recent sale in London, brought £4160, at the same sale, a Standfield was knocked down for £2164. It would be interesting to know what the artists originally obtained for the pictures.

It is said that a handsome brick hotel building is to rise Phoenix like from the ruins of the French Hotel. It is wanted. There is nothing in which Victoria is so deficient as in that of good hotel accommodation.

ALL the shipbuilders of San Francisco are removing to Puget Sound. One company invests $500,000 for the erection of a saw-mill and shipyard near Seattle. Verily, 'things' are beginning to move on this northern coast.

POLICE COURT.—James Hamilton, on remand for stealing a suit of clothes, valued at $37, the property of John Watkins, was sentenced yesterday for three months imprisonment with hard labor.

It is proposed to remove the Gymnasium from View street to Broad, near Yates. The cost of removal will be $450, of which amount a public-spirited athlete offers $200. Let us have it near, by all means.

FROM NANAIMO.—A portion of Frair's flotilla, the Grappler and Emily Harris, arrived yesterday from Nanaimo with coal, the former to R Brodick and the latter to use of Spratt & Co's foundry.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—According to late English papers anthracite coal only is to be used in the British navy for the future.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Nervous Debility.—No part of the human machinery requires more watching than the nervous system—upon it hangs health and life itself. These Pills are the best regulators and strengtheners of the nerves, and the safest general purifiers. Nausea, headache, giddiness, numbness, and mental apathy yield to them. They disengage in a summary manner those distressing dyspeptic symptoms, stomachic pains, flatulency at the pit of the stomach, abdominal distension, and overcome both capricious appetites and confined bowels—the commonly accompanying signs of defective or deranged nervous power. Holloway's Pills are particularly recommended to those suffering from indigestion, and to those who gradually sink into a nervous and debilitated state unless some such restorative be occasionally taken.

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

Europe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Democrat's Madrid special says; the news from Alicante, Carthage, Barcelona, Seville and Cadiz, announces that most of the ship manufactories in those cities have been closed, and workmen deprived of their labor are becoming restless and boisterous. Fear of a general riot all over the country, causes great uneasiness to the Provisional Government. The loan of 10,000,000 reals opened for the relief of workmen has not been entirely subscribed, for the social question and assumes here the same aspect as in Paris in 1848. Socialist clubs are forming all over Spain.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Post announces the following programme as the quasi-official dissolution of Parliament to take place on the 11th inst. All the uncontested elections are to commence on the 16th. The contested elections in the boroughs on the 17th, and in the counties at a later date.

The new Parliament will be summoned to meet on the 9th of December, when the Queen's speech will be delivered and the policy of the Ministry on the questions at issue will be announced.

John Evelyn Denison will be reelected speaker. It is believed the House will be ready to proceed to business by the 14th of December. The opposition will probably move as a test question an amendment to the Queen's speech, which the House will debate until the 18th, and when the supposed motion will be carried by a large majority. The House will then be adjourned until the following Monday. On reassembling the premier will announce his resignation, and that of his colleagues. Mr Gladstone will follow with a motion to adjourn for the holidays to afford an opportunity for the formation of a new Cabinet.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 4.—John Bright was publicly received here yesterday by the Lord Provost and a number of the city government; he was presented with the freedom of the city. The Court of Sessions of Edinburgh on final appeal has rendered a decision disallowing the claims of women to the right of franchise.

MADRID, Nov. 4.—General Dulce delays his departure for Cuba on account of sickness. He takes out a decree providing for the election of deputies on the Island, and is also instructed to carry into force measures to liberalize the administration, and to establish the liberty of the press, divide the Island into three provinces and suppress improper institutions.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The Gaulois asserts that the members of the Provisional Government at Madrid are unanimous in opposition to the Duke of Montpensier.

Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters.

READ REV. W. B. LEE'S LETTER.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 28th, 1863.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith:

Gentlemen—I have used your Bitters during the last six weeks, and I feel it due to you and to the public to express my hearty approval of their effect upon me. I never wrote a "pull" for any one, and I labor every thing that favors of quackery. But your Bitters are entirely removed from the level of the mere nostrums of the day, being patent alike to all, and exactly what they profess to be. They are not advertised to cure everything, but they are recommended to assist nature in the alleviation and ultimate healing of many of the most common infirmities of the body, and this they will accomplish. I had been unwell for two months, as is usual with me during the Spring. I was bilious, and suffering from indigestion, and a general disease of the mucous membrane, and though compelled to keep at work in the discharge of my professional duties, was very weak, of a yellow complexion, no appetite, and much of the time confined to my bed. When I had been taking your Bitters a week my vigor returned; the yellow complexion was all gone, I relished my food, and now I enjoy the duties of the mental application, which so recently were so very irksome and burdensome to me. When I used your Bitters, I felt a change every day. These are facts. All interference must be made by each individual for himself.

Yours, respectfully,
W. B. LEE,
Pastor of Greene Avenue Presbyterian Church.

CORRECTIVE AND ALTERNATIVE

Of Wonderful Efficacy in Diseases

OF THE

STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers. Fortifies the System against Malaria and the evil effects of an unwholesome water; invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels;

Steadies the Nerves and Tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

As a genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produces effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Loss of Sleep, and of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes. In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a prophylactic and irresistible as a remedy. Thousands who resort to it in underappreciation of an attack, escape the scourge and attendant neglect to avail themselves of its prophylactic qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine.

Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretory organs.
